In My Life . . .

There are places I remember
All my life
Though some have changed
Some forever, not for better
Some have gone
And some remain
All these places have their moments
Of lovers and friends
I still can recall
Some are dead and some are living
In my life
I've loved them all.
-The Beatles

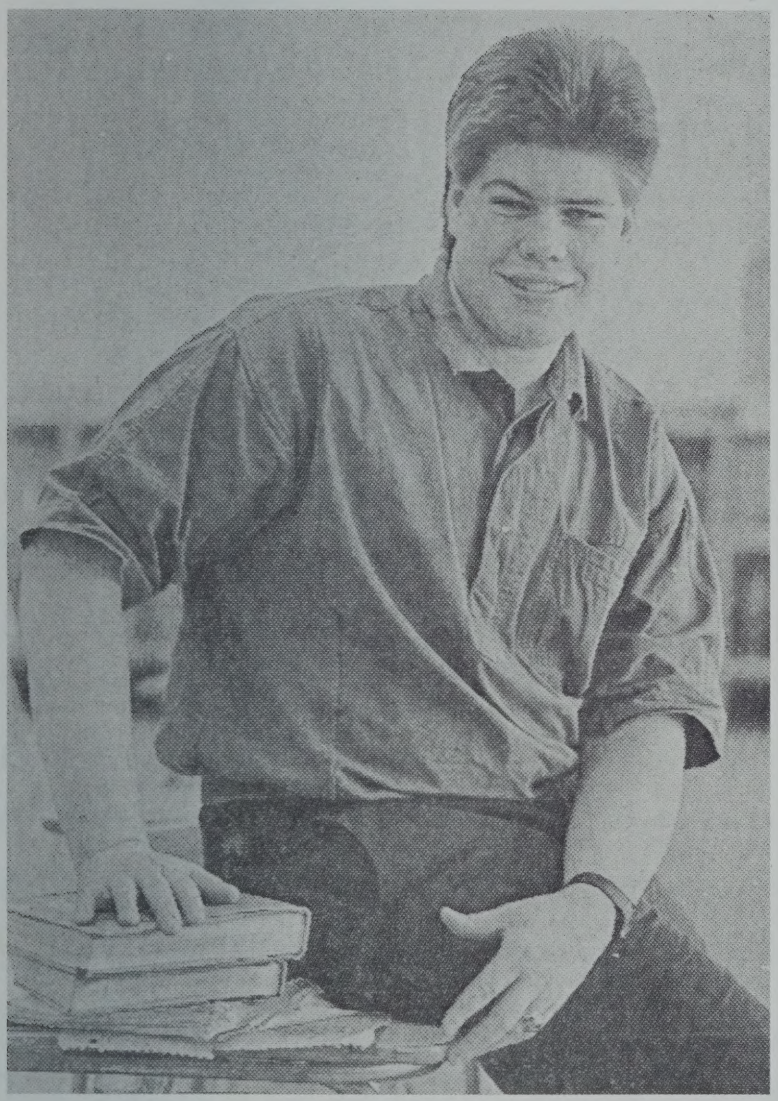

DEDICATION

The class of 1991 is proud to dedicate this year's yearbook to Mr. Chester Millet, superintendent of schools. He has demonstrated kindness and enthusiasm towards all the students at Abington High. His supportive involvement in our activities has made our years at Abington High memorable. Mr. Millet, we extend our sincere thanks; you will be truly missed.

CONGRATULATIONS

The class of 1991 would like to congratulate our friend and classmate Matthew MacDonald. Matt was one of sixty students chosen from high schools across the country to participate in a freshmen honors program at USC while completing his High School credits at the same time. We admire him for his exceptional academic ability and wish him the best of luck in the future.

From The Editors

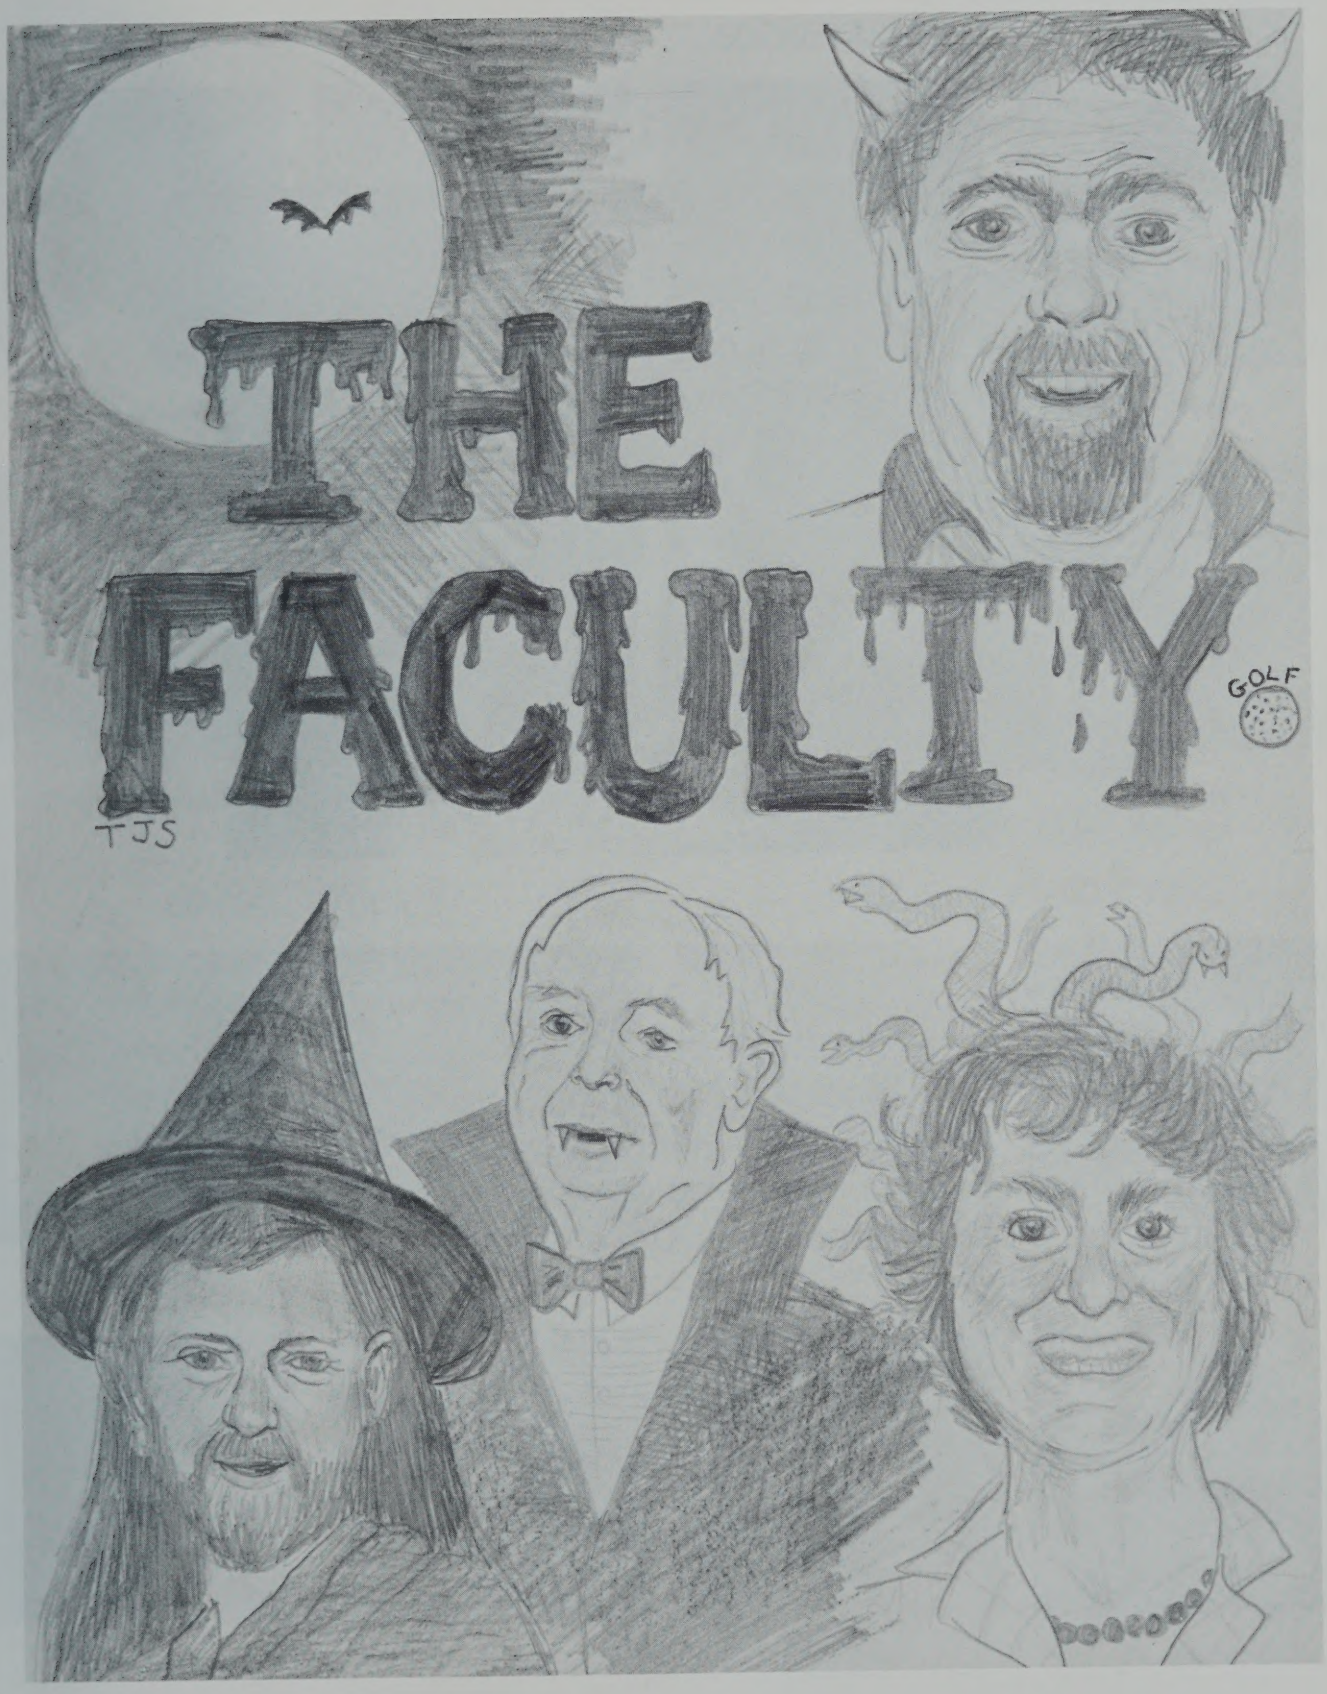

Fellow Classmates,

Well, here they are. all your memories of Abington High School bound up in a little white, green, and gold book. This book is the one thing that will always be there when you need to see an old familiar face, or just to get a good laugh. And if there ever comes a time when you can't remember how it feels to be a puppy in love, or a pain in some teacher's behind, to act goofy with all your best friends, or just to be goofy looking simply open this book. You'll probably smile and you might even laugh, but one thing's for sure: you'll miss Abington High School, and Abington High will miss you too. Good luck in the future in whatever you do.

Best wishes!

Lisa, Kerry, Tobie, and Kerri.

Dear Classmates,

Our four years of trials and tribulations at Abington High are just about over. Each of us has our own fond or not, memories of our high school careers. Whether you go off to a job or college next year, you will always carry the memory of past experiences.

Next year will be a big change for all of us. Leaving such a small school like Abington High and entering a frenzy post-high school world may be a hard and lonely road. All of us have learned one lesson or another, here at Abington, so use them to your advantage in conquering your hopes and dreams. And one thought to always remember is that winning and achieving are not bad words.

Through the years you may experience happiness and heartache, but some things will never change. Your friends at Abington High School will always have a place in your heart.

If you go to New York or California it doesn't matter because you will always have green blood. And wherever you go or whatever you do be sure you always carry your Green Wave Pride.

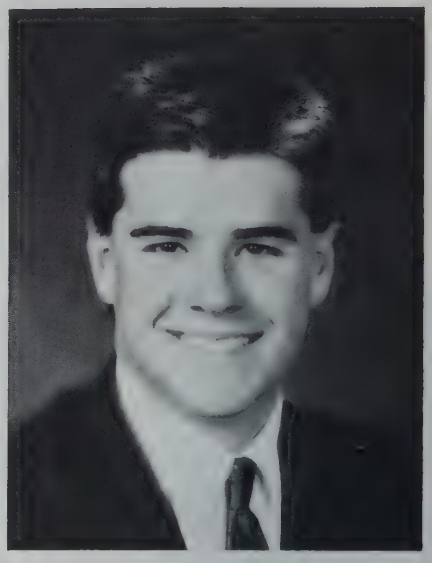

Respectfully Yours,
T.J. Byrne

FRESHMAN YEAR

In September of 1987 we entered a world where we were allowed to go to our lockers whenever we felt like it, without even getting detentions! The new freedoms of high school were unbelievable. We even had a say in what classes we were to take. Even as humble and lowly Freshmen, we were beginning to feel like young adults.

We elected Stephen Powers as our class President, Tobie Simmons as our Vice President, Michele Goulet as our Secretary and Kerry Walls as our Treasurer. Their major duty was to make rally signs and decorations under the supervision of their advisor, Mr. Louis.

Those were the first rallies we'd ever experienced. Back then rallies were for high school kids during school, and interclassial rivalry was not only allowed, but expected. The seniors were giants and they thought we were shrinking. (Freshmen do get smaller every year, don't they?) Mid-terms and finals were a new, truly horrifying experience. Then there was the dating dilemma. Freshman girls dated older guys and succeeded in giving freshman boys a complex. "Will I ever go out with anyone again?", they wondered. "Why do they only like the older boys?" What they didn't realize was that next year they would be the older boys. They would be "the Sophomore guys".

SOPHOMORE YEAR

Of course sophomore year the girls still dated older guys, but the sophomore guys were now dating "younger women". Aaah! Sophomore year. It was kind of like the limbo of high school. The excitement of entering the high school was over, and the prom and graduation seemed pretty darn far away. But we managed.

We elected Leslie Russel as our President, Tobie Simmons as our Vice President, Jen Miller as our Secretary, and Kerry Walls as our Treasurer. These ladies had to start thinking about making some serious money for that far-off dream, the Junior Prom. Under the advisement of Mr. Corcoran, they sold candy and held a dance as fundraisers.

Meanwhile, the Boosters were pumping up town wide GREENWAVE SPIRIT and helping us make our first night rallies successful. We began to grasp the idea of school spirit more easily. We were no longer too intimidated to stand up and scream for our teams, right out in front of everybody. We had lots of parties, lots of fun and, quite frankly, lots of zits! (Bad year for class complexion). Our class was a major part of the Drama Club revival at Abington High. Mrs. MacDonald brought it back to us sophomore year and we weren't willing to let it go. Finals didn't seem quite so scary that year. They were just really annoying.

SELF ESTEEM.

Prom Date

JUNIOR YEAR

Junior year-Prom Time! I don't think a moment went by when the girls weren't thinking about the perfect dress and the boys weren't pretending not to care if they even got a date. President Leslie Russel, Vice President Tobie Simmons, Secretary Michele Goulet and Treasurer Kerry Walls worked day and night to get enough funds for the most perfect prom ever. Miss Jasper eventually became our advisor. We had our first Bonfire Rally, which was a huge success. We started worrying about the SAT's and prom-time costs and all that other stressful stuff. The prom finally came and we walked through that castle door to dance to our prom theme, "This is the Time to Remember". It truly was. Steve Powers was the king of the prom and Jen Winnewicz was the Queen. They and their court were a spectacular sight. It couldn't have been an easy decision to choose them because everyone at the prom looked incredible.

The later part of the year brought some National Honor Society inductions and that ever memorable election of Senior Class Officers. There was some good, clean rivalry that brought back the fun of competition in high school elections. The victors? C.B.C. and F.M. Congratulations Boys!

SENIOR YEAR

The Homecoming dance was a real blast. Homecoming Queen Leslie Russell and her court were visions of loveliness on the football field. Scrooge was our final contribution to the history of Abington High Drama. The Senior class officers, President T.J. Byrne, Vice President Ryan Chandler, Secretary Eric Cannon and Treasurer Tim Graham held the Volleyball Tournament to bring in funds for the Senior Reception at Lombardos. Aside from time put into college applications, most of our time was spent giving in to SENIORITIS!

We tried not to pay attention to the fact that this was our last year together. We wanted to make the best of the time we had left. So we did!!!

Class Prophecy
-by Kendra Keenan

Dear Ryan,

I was recently looking at our High School year book which reminded me that I have to get the reunion started. I've begun to find information about what some people have been doing lately and I've called most of them. I would like to share some of the information I found out about our high school classmates. But first I'll tell you something about what I've been doing. I star on Donahue monthly and debate with people about the new religious cult I started. People are so simple minded. They have no idea how exhilarating it is to dress in robes and run around yelling in a fake language.

But anyway, I'll start with Eric Cannon. He recently won an award for cow tipping - Wow! There's some money involved there. Tim Graham, yes, we all know, "plays" on the A's when he's not "hurt." Steve Powers started his own engineering firm with Bryan Gillis, who has also started Overeaters Anonymous because of his weight problem. Bill Brown is coaching his son's hockey team and playing when he can sneak in. I'm sure you read about Dave Masabany. I can't believe he actually owns Las Vegas with Dan Delcore, his hit man. Doug Holmes keeps writing me letters about the reunion. I guess he's excited. Doug Mahoney and Chuck Crocker run a board game business but can't seem to get it off the ground. It's called, "Pool Can Be Fun!". Bret Borrelli is in Africa running a missionary Program, but recently got attacked by a giraffe. Brian Cahill started a used car business. He has already bought three trying to get it going. Pat Moore is in a depression because he wishes to get back together with all of us. I guess he just got arrested for painting a neighborhood with psychadelic colors. Remi Kennedy recently traveled to Afghanistan to find some kind of rock he is obsessed with. Wayne Ward has bought "Big and Tall", but kept the name. Nick Swett had a book published. Robert Douglas is the lead singer in a country music band. He also has a leather haido. Thomas Carroll teaches show choir at AHS. Dan Kenney hit megabucks but gave it away to the needy (wow). Greg Jasinskis went AWOL. Kent Rhodes is trying to "do a buck 80?" Kevin Dole took over for Kenny Rogers in the Dole Juice commercials. James Boyle is still walking to school. Joe Williams owns a little company. Romas Banaitis is still sticking his face in "stuff" for money. Derek Correia is in New Hampshire on a farm, but not picking any food. Tony Zaccardi resides in Jamaica with native spirits and freshly picked ganta and sings for a Jamaican Band. Dickie Ahern, I hear, isn't doing so well, although he is the proud owner of BFI. I still can't believe Glenn Morris is up for impeachment. Dana Dunham opened up a shoe store with his brother, and Chris Smith designs the shoe laces. Darrell Smith is directing traffic at the sewerage sites. Nancy Donovan is the business manager of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Kathy Flannery is a psychologist and yelling at people to shut up. Jule Fennell is happily married to Bill Tutle. Jackie Parent owns a day care center with her cousin. Val Cobbett is in jail for trying to break into a store to use the bathroom. The investigation on who slipped her the laxatives is underway. Heidi Kopp, who entering menapause has already begun to shrink, found a come back to all the short jokes in the world. Marie Halloran is still thinking about what to write. Amy Whittemore is in her office trying to figure out Nate Elliot. Nancy Hinckley is in California auditioning for a movie. Jacqueline Boudreau owns a gum factory. Elizabeth Libby is a teacher. Her husband is the money maker. Shannon Leary became a hairdresser and got married. Fran Healey is still working at Olson's for $4.50 an hour with the pum yums. Paula Soper is single and partying with her friends. Kelley Garcia is at the grocery store arguing with Rick. Mickelle Casey is working for a corporation and has two children. Deborah Franey took over for Judge Wapner in Peoples Court. Lisa, Rice "aroni" lives in "San Francisco", is an accountant and shares an apartment with Rick. Katie MacDonnell must be laughing. Keri Johns is now a travel agent. Sandra Reid is working to make her mother comfortable. Mary Buckley is a fashion designer for Ames. Melynda Lemos is happily married and living in a small house with two kids, ten chickens and a husband. Carol Lehtonen is now a pediatrics nurse and part-time comedian. Krystyn Rumpf is a successful cosmotologist, married with three kids and a hawk. Krista Lally is living in Florida married to her man, Daniel and collects cockroaches. Karen Conner is among the unemployed, borrowing money from her mother. Linda Patenaude is searching for lost fossils under her house. She is obsessed with bones for some reason. Kerri Murphy and her three cute little blond boys are very happy living in Alaska. Michelle Ventrsca said she still sits around and wonders how Leslie got an 80 in Spanish, it occupies all her time. Christine McCarthy just recently accepted an Acadamy "Cheek Cell". Paula Norcott owns a "hot" country singing dance club. Erin Joyce owns a disco. She's trying to revive bell bottoms. Melissa O'Keefe took over the Clara Barton Camp and became owner. Tracey Ranahan is now preparing for another interview with Robyn Leach. I heard Hugo was learning to speak English, but mistranslated what someone said to him, got mad and killed the person, so I guess he won't be attending. Lelie Russell is the secretary for the non-bankrupt Donald Trump. Lynne Burke finally got her facial moles removed. Lisa Deveney somehow, miraculously found a pot of gold in her cellar. Michele Goulet won a Turbo Saab for her experience in cutting lumber. Melissa Nee is leading Safari's in the swamps of the Amazon with her ten native husbands. Jennifer Miller teaches her young students about the facts of life while cutting out tugboats to put on her bulletin board, and just recently sang the National Anthem at Wrestle Mania V. Tobie Simmons is head of the advertisement department of Tugboats Inc., and still is emitting strange fumes. Kendra Keenan has recently devised many ways to catch sexy gazelles. Kerry Walls will not be attending due to the fact that she is in South America hijacking a plane filled with priceless scallions. David MacAlpine has just invented a new product, "Mole Guard". Chrissy Moods just came out with a new line of cosmetics. Isn't that what you used enhance your skin spots?

If I have forgotten anyone, forgive me for I have recently recovered from amnesia. I fell off a cliff during one of my sacrificial services. I hope to see you at the reunion. It will prove to be an interesting but gaseous experience. See you soon.

Anthony Beal Byrne

Is there some meaning to this life?
What purpose lies behind the strife?
Whence do we come, where are we found?
These cold questions echo and resound through each day, each lonely night.
We long to find the splendid light that will cast a revelatory heam upon the meaning of the human dream.

A Boring Sitting

Sitting here, is such a bore. It's bad enough that I'm in the building let alone in this class, in this chair. Listening to this teacher speak about a boring subject. Every once and a while a student will ask a question or make a remark dealing with the topic or just make a comment on something else. It's such a bore. I'm obviously not content with this whole setting. What should I do to pass the time? I draw on my book with lines and scribbles, what should I do? What should I do? Five minutes left, I'm so glad, but trust me this remaining five minutes will definitely take five minutes, meaning this class is a bore. I'm starting to get hunger pains. Now thinking of lunch, thinking what will it be today. It's really not that good but it gets me through the day. With this thought in mind the bell is soon to ring and it does! I'm so glad!
